

MoMA Dimension

Blinding orb made from orange plastic and falling down the waterfall outside MoMA,

which is mostly crumbled now with the famous Starry Night
from the Van Gogh room still intact but under a crushed roof and now looking more like a cave in cinema Dutch angles filled with purple and pink vines that fell from an alien

sky
one day or afternoon

or basically around midnight.